POUILLY-FUISSÉ CLOS DES PROUGES

Mâconnais
Appellation Village
White
100% Chardonnay

Vineyards situation

Located in the southern part of Burgundy, at the Northern limit of the Beaujolais area, Pouilly-Fuissé is often considered as the top of the Mâconnais wines, in the heart of the great whites appellations. It is produced in the small village of Fuissé.

Characteristics

The Clos des Prouges comes from one of the most sensitive place of Pouilly-Fuissé. The soil is made of clay and chalk from the Jurassic era and the production is rather small.

Wine making

One part of the wine is fermented in oak barrels, on its lies. The bottling should take place in January 2007.

Winemaker's comments / Gastronomy

The Pouilly-Fuissé Clos des Prouges is powerful, very ripe, round, full, very expressive and uncommon. It smells of honeysuckle and citron.

It can be served rather cool and goes very well with seabass, cooked oysters, foie gras terrine, goat cheese ...

Preservation

Pouilly Fuissé is pleasant to drink young, but can easily be aged in a good cellar up to ten years allowing him to develop a superb complex bouquet.
